Introduction

THE CANADIAN SPORT POLICY

The Canadian Sport Policy identifies four substantive goals: enhanced participation, enhanced excellence, enhanced capacity, and enhanced interaction.

Enhanced participation and enhanced excellence target the expansion of the capacity of individuals, communities, and institutions, as well as the financial and material resources that comprise Canada's sport system.

Enhanced capacity focuses on ensuring that the essential components of an ethically based, athlete/participant-centred development system are in place and are being continually modernized and strengthened as required.

The Canadian Sport Policy focuses government efforts on identifying and strengthening the weak links in the Canadian sport system at the national, provincial/territorial and community levels in order to maximize its effectiveness.

An Act to Promote Physical Activity and Sport S.C. 2003 C-2 (the "Act") received Royal Assent on March 19, 2003. The Act sets out the Government's policy on sport as including the fair, equitable, transparent and timely resolution of disputes in sport. The Act provided for the creation of the Sport Dispute Resolution Centre of Canada (the "SDRCC"). The SDRCC opened on April 1, 2004.

MISSION STATEMENT

In keeping with the goals of the Canadian Sport Policy and in accordance with the Act, the mission of the SDRCC is to provide the sport community with a national service for the prevention and resolution of sport disputes as well as expertise and assistance regarding alternative dispute resolution.

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

Preparation of the current corporate plan has been bolstered by a year of achievement and change in 2005-2006.

2006 was marked by the Olympic and Paralympic Games in Torino, Italy and the Commonwealth Games in Melbourne, Australia. During our 2005-2006 year, the SDRCC managed doping arbitration hearings, other arbitrations, and a number of mediations.

The SDRCC's Resource Centre increased its impact on numerous national and provincial events. Also, the SDRCC improved its website, which offers targeted educational information on ways to prevent and resolve sport-related disputes.

In addition, the SDRCC educated 25 experienced arbitrators to render decisions and mediators to assist parties in settling their disputes.

Finally, in order to improve its services and programs, the SDRCC prepared and adopted its new code of procedure that provides for a Resolution Facilitator to help people resolve sports disputes.

It is against this backdrop that the SDRCC has prepared its corporate plan for 2006-2007.

MAJOR OBJECTIVES AND INITIATIVES

The SDRCC's priorities for the 2006-2007 fiscal year include: implementing our new code of procedure (hereinafter the "Code"); promoting mediation in all sports related dispute; enhancing interaction and partnership with the members of the Canadian sport community; educating the sport community about best practices aimed at creating a culture of fairness; implementing the communication and education strategies.

Background and Governance

SDRCC GOVERNING LEGISLATION

The Act established the SDRCC as a not-for-profit corporation and outlines its structure, mission, powers and rules of operation. Given the intention to make the SDRCC an arm's length entity of government, the legislation explicitly states that the SDRCC is not an agent of Her Majesty, a departmental corporation or a Crown corporation.

ORGANIZATIONAL STRUCTURE

The Act specifies that the SDRCC shall be composed of a Dispute Resolution Secretariat ("Secretariat") and a Resource Centre, but leaves it to the SDRCC to define its mandate, duties and functions to ensure that it is responsive to the evolving needs of the sport community in order to better enhance capacity in the Canadian sport community.

Pursuant to the Act, the affairs and business of the SDRCC are managed by a Board of Directors consisting of the Executive Director of the SDRCC, who is an ex officio director, and 12 other directors. In December 2003, the Minister appointed the directors after consultation with the sport community. These guidelines provided for a Board comprised of men and women who: (a) are committed to the promotion and development of sport; (b) have the experience and capability to enable the SDRCC to achieve its objectives; (c) are representative of the sport community; and (d) are representative of the diversity and linguistic duality of Canadian society. As of January 1, 2006, the Board of Directors is composed of 8 members and the SDRCC awaits further Ministerial appointments.

The Executive Director is the SDRCC's Chief Executive Officer. The full-time CEO is charged with the fulfillment of the objectives and mission of the SDRCC, including spearheading the projects, programs, and services offered by the SDRCC and overseeing their successful delivery across Canada. The CEO and staff coordinate activities and projects to further the objectives of the SDRCC and provide the mandated services for the SDRCC's stakeholders.

The Dispute Secretariat and the Resource Centre are managed internally by the staff of the SDRCC.

The Board reviews and revises as necessary the management of both the Secretariat and the Resource Centre during the course of the fiscal year in order to best serve the needs of the sport community.

Multi-year Strategy and Objectives for 2006-2007

LONG TERM OBJECTIVES 2004-2007

The SDRCC's long-term (3-year) strategies were based on the objectives of the Canadian Sport Policy: participation, excellence, capacity and enhanced interaction in sport, as well as the SDRCC's mission to provide a national alternative resolution service for sport disputes.

a) Excellence and Expertise

Enhance excellence in the Canadian sport system by strengthening the culture of fairness and by providing outstanding mediation and arbitration services in the resolution of sport disputes.

b) Participation

Enhance the accessibility and inclusiveness of the Canadian sport system by strengthening the capacity of leaders and decision makers to make fair and impartial decisions and by providing ADR services and SDRCC resources across Canada in both official languages.

c) Resources

Strengthen the capacity of our leaders and participants to understand and make decisions, deal with disputes, and create a culture of fairness by developing within the SDRCC the service and resource structure required to offer an optimal national alternative sport dispute resolution service to the sport community.

d) Enhanced Interaction

Enhance and create a culture of fairness by developing, establishing and maintaining harmonious relationships with members of the sport community.

e) Sound, Effective Management

Operate and administer a balanced, effective, transparent organization that demonstrates leadership in its respect for governance, management and human values.

OBJECTIVES AND PLANNED INITIATIVES FOR 2006-2007

Current Performance

In 2005-2006, SDRCC handled over 35 disputes in matters such as team selection, athlete carding, disciplinary and anti-doping issues. The SDRCC offered workshops to better educate the sport community about ADR. The SDRCC also produced a new Code of procedures to be adopted on April 1, 2006. In addition, the SDRCC educated its arbitrators and mediators on doping and selection matters.

Projected Performance for 2006-2007

With the upcoming 2007 Canada Games in Whitehorse and the anticipated increase of the doping cases, the projected annual caseload for the SDRCC is 70+ cases for 2006-2007.

A major focus during 2006-2007 will be the implementation of the new code of procedure and, specifically, the introduction of the Resolution Facilitator (RF). The RF will be available to work with disputants to try to help them resolve their disputes without resorting to arbitration. Julie Duranceau is the current RF for the SDRCC.

During 2006-2007, the SDRCC also plans to revise its list of neutrals.

The objective of the Resource Centre is to help the Sport Community prevent disputes and permit NSOs to handle those that cannot be prevented by building capacity within the NSO itself. The Resource Centre is a national repository of dispute resolution decisions, other resources to educate the sports community with respect to dispute resolution, and information on best practices in the sports field. To foster a fair, open and positive environment, the Resource Centre will prepare guides and offer workshops that focus on pertinent services and techniques. The intention is for the Resource Centre to be proactive in the development of sound policies as well as fair and effective dispute resolution mechanisms through educational campaigns, training and other initiatives.

Clientele

The Sport Canada accountability framework requires all NSOs and MSOs to have an internal dispute resolution mechanism. If not resolved internally, disputes with respect to national team athletes and coaches will be administrated by the SDRCC.

The services rendered by the SDRCC may additionally be offered for other matters on a consensual basis. All NSOs and anyone affiliated with a NSO, including its members, may agree to refer a dispute to the SDRCC and benefit from the SDRCC's services, provided they meet the admissibility criteria adopted by the SDRCC.

Where other sport organizations and their members request access to the SDRCC's services, the Board may, under certain conditions, grant access to the SDRCC.
